Product Proposal

For the first assignment, you will create a GitHub repository that will contain a single README.md file with the project proposal for the class.

The project proposal must contain the following information:

- Project Name
- Project Pitch as a single paragraph
- Project Description which provides a longer description, no more than two paragraphs
- Primary Users which describe who this product is for.
- Features, as a bullet list of what the users will be able to do with the product
- Benefits, a bullet list of how users will benefit from using this product.

You need to add me as a contributor to the repository using my public handle navteniev.

Submit the link to the repository as the submission for the assignment.
